PD AS A TREATMENT MODALITY IN AKI

FEATURED SPEAKER

PROF RASHA DARWISH

Prof Darwish is a trilingual consultant nephrologist at Kasr Alainy medical school, Cairo University with over 25 years' experience in public and private practice. She has a strong passion for education and is actively involved in various international nephrology and community healthcare forums at national and international levels. Since joining the AFRAN family as PD chair committee and later as the treasurer, her major professional and community support interests are within the context of providing and improving adequacy of Kidney care and Replacement therapy in Egypt and Africa. She managed with her team to arrange for the first AFRAN PD training course in Tunisia and as well in Senegal with the collaboration of ISPD and SOSENDT. She is hoping to bridge the gap between our African continent nephrologists and the renowned international nephrology institutions through her positions as an ISN Dialysis Working Group member representing Egypt/Africa and ISPD Nominating Committee member representing Middle East/Africa.
